(Re)Claiming Voices and Sharing Stories: Contesting Power, Privilege, and Silence in the Classroom

Dr. Gilda Ochoa
Thursday, April 18, 2019
12:30-2:00pm
Puerto Rican & Latin American Cultural Center
Multipurpose Room

Join us for the 4th annual plática on a topic of education. Dr. Gilda Ochoa, Professor of Chicana/o-Latina/o studies at Pomona College in California, will be leading this discussion. With over 25 years of teaching in Chicana/o-Latina/o Studies, sociology, and women’s studies, Dr. Ochoa has worked with K-university teachers and has also taught in high school and college programs dedicated to increasing the number of underrepresented students in higher education. Dr. Ochoa has received awards for teaching and writing on Chicanas/os-Latinas/os, education, and race/ethnicity.

Her most recent book, Academic Profiling: Latinos, Asian Americans, and the Achievement Gap, was named as one of 35 books that all educators of African American and Latino students must read.

Please join us for this community conversation.

Light lunch will be provided

Sponsored by: